Computer equipment for Andover's town installation has arrived and will be installed for trial operation in December. Accounting for all municipal departments, including the school department, will be done with the computer which Andover is renting from National Cash Register Co. for $1,200 a month. Wendall A. Manton, town accountant, will direct the operation.

A microwave communication system has been ordered by the Raytheon telecommunication group by Royal Dutch Shell. The system will direct the automatic delivery of crude oil from production fields in the Oman to tank farms and offshore oil rigs on the Persian Gulf 1,000 miles away. The all-solid-state relay equipment will be produced in Italy by Selenia S.P.A., a subsidiary of Raytheon Company. Prudential Insurance Co., in its annual economic forecast, has predicted that the public will spend an unprecedented $452 billion as average family income rises to a record $7,400 in 1966. Predicted is a gross national product of $714 billion with consumer spending accounting for 63 percent of it.

The Northeast blackout did not disrupt activities at Phillips Academy where prep school life went on as usual thanks to the school's independent electric power supply.

3-2 Wrangle

The School Committee became involved in a 3-2 wrangle Tuesday when it was proposed that it adjourn to accept Town Manager Richard Bowen's invitation to be present for a budget briefing at Town Hall.

Both Dr. Louis Galbiati and Committeeman William A. Doherty opposed attending the conference. When a motion by Committeewoman Barbara Moody carried, Galbiati indicated that he would boycott the session at which members of the Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee were present to review the 1966 fiscal outlook. The two men did attend, however.

The School Committee will meet Dec. 9 for consideration of the school department salary budget, delayed by the adjournment.

White Gets New License

In a secret ballot vote, the Board of Selectmen awarded the license for a new package store to John B. White Jr. who expects to open a downtown store at 77 Main St., the so-called Killorin property adjacent to the Post Office.

White is assistant treasurer of the Andover Housing Authority. A resident at 5 Summer St., he is employed by the Andover Post Office and works part-time at a local package store. He was formerly a partner in a monument business with Selectman Roger Collins.

Still to be definitely cleared is the legality of White's site which

Zoning Board Meets Tonight

The Zoning Board of Appeals will hold public hearings tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Town Hall on five petitions.

● Sidney P. White, 5 Argilla Rd. is requesting a variance to permit construction of a multiple dwelling at 54 Andover St. on a lot where setback requirements could not be met.

● Harry Axelrod, 27 Alden Rd., is requesting correction of data in a previous ruling which was made on the basis of faulty engineering maps which showed eight acres of AVIS land as part of acreage connected to his Rolling Green Motor Inn.

● Horace and Theola Riggan Sr., 101 Bellevue Rd. are asking permission to divide a lot and build Town Manager Richard Bowen said Tuesday that he cannot yet predict the 1966 tax rate, or even report a reliable revenue figure for the year ahead.

But he told the Board of Selectmen, the Finance Committee and the School Committee in a preliminary budget conference that both expenditures and taxes are certain to go up.

To prove his point he submitted a series of charts and graphs to illustrate the widening gap between revenues and expenditures in the years since 1962 when the tax began its climb from $26 to the present $34.

He told the three boards that his specific proposals for fiscal programs will be included with his January budget document which is to detail both revenue and expenditure estimates for 1966.

Loosely estimated figures in the still-to-be-totalled budget article indicate that marked increases are due in fire department, welfare and debt service costs.

The fire department personnel budget, for example, is estimated at $334,500, up from $282,178. Much of this increase will go into the paychecks of men who must be hired to man the new West Andover fire station, due to open in 1966.

Welfare costs are expected to advance from $111,622 to roughly $142,000, in spite of new Federal

Santa Here For Parade

The Andover Fire Department will bring Santa Claus to town Dec. 18 for a Christmas Parade, repeating an annual tradition.

The parade is to form at Shawshen Plaza at 10 a.m. and proceed up Main Street to Punchard Avenue, down Punchard to Bartlett and on Bartlett to Park Street, disbanding at the Central Fire Station. Here Santa Claus will distribute candy donated by the Ladies Auxiliary to the fire department and visit with children.

Harold Hayes, chairman of the parade committee, reports that groups wishing to add marching units, floats or bands to the parade should contact members of his committee no later than 4 p.m. Dec. 14.

Working with Hayes are Alfred C. Derosier, Donald Babin, Richard Merola and Robert Demers.

have chronic ailments.

And the town will invest more in debt service charges as it begins to pay interest on bonds which are to be sold in '66 to cover the cost of constructing the new $2.9 million high school, now in the working drawing stage. An additional fiscal shock will be felt in 1967 when the first principal payments fall due, Bowen said.
Speaking to members of the three boards, together for the first time in history for a pre-budget briefing, the manager draws three conclusions from his studies of Andover's recent economic history:

First, the town must keep its own financial house in order, subjecting expenses to the most objective scrutiny possible and using all possible revenue sources to distribute the burden as equitably as possible.

Secondly, the state must provide additional aid to narrow the gap between Andover's income and outgo, and finally, "there must be a coordination of spending programs by ALL town department including schools. The right hand must know what the left hand is doing," he said.

He stated bluntly: "Catch phrases suggesting a contaminating influence on education by the "Town Hall" are sheer nonsense and unworthy of the enlightened community each of us feels Andover to be."

He referred to periodic ch-from some members of the Committee that the manager or the board of Selectmen like to involve themselves in Committee business, as well the suggestion that it would in the best interests of the tion department to mix its ministrative offices with those other municipal officials in a town hall building.

Bowen told the boards that town could have absorbed as as $150,000 in additional expen-annually since 1962 without increase in the property tax.
The natural growth in propvaluations would have covered a steady climb. But instead, said, expenses went up $1.3
lion, pushing the tax rate $1.10 than it was in 1962.

Mrs. Reginald Mortimer and Miss Georgina Petrie are in charge of refreshments.

Dedication On Sunday

A processional cross will be dedicated at Free Christian Church Sunday to the late Annie Smart Angus who was for 68 years a "devoted and loyal" member of the Elm Street Church.

Mrs. Angus who was born in 1878 and died in 1964, was a granddaughter of one of the founders of Free Church. She had a special interest in the music of the church and was chairman of the music committee when the present organ was installed at Free Church following a disastrous fire in 1941.

The cross to be dedicated to her memory will precede the choir in Sunday processions at the church. The ceremony is to be part of the 10:15 a.m. worship service which will also include the reception of new members.

Alcoholism National Problem

The Central Essex County Alcoholism Information Week, a national educational and informational campaign emphasizing alcoholism is a treatable disease.

The campaign, said Henry Ingham of Ipswich, president of the council, is part of a national observance sponsored by the National Council on Alcoholism, a voluntary health agency.

"Alcoholism is one of America's four major health problems, with mental illness, cancer and heart disease," Beckington said. "It is estimated that there are between five and six million alcoholics in the country, and have right here in Essex County according to the Keller formula, 34,798 alcoholics in 1960."

The Central Essex County private, voluntary health organization, has services of referral, guidance, dissemination of literature and information on all phases of the disease of alcoholism, educational programs for the public, professional, school, industrial, and other groups. It is a non-profit organization and remains independent of the "wet-dry" issue, Beckington said.

Public Asked To Meeting

The Andover Education Conference will meet at 8 p.m. Dec. 8 at Cooley House, Phillips Academy, to hear a report on the Andover Education Conference, the begin organizational work.

At Monday's meeting the elected executive board will be introduced and the group's work reviewed.

Norman Viehmann, chairman of the 1965 Andover Educational Conference, will on that public meeting, after individual committees will be discussed in group sessions and plans will be announced. It is to be served.

The council plans to set up committees to deal with the membership, public information, educational facilities, educational concepts and activities.

The functions and the membership of these committees will be reported following the meeting, which is open to all persons interested in Andover schools.

Critic Kazin
Visits Campus

Alfred Kazin, critic and writer, spoke twice last week at Phillips Academy before informal gatherings of students and faculty.

On Monday evening Kazin met with a large group in the Underwood Room where he discussed Henry Adams, whom he described as "an artist who could understand history." The next morning the noted critic fielded questions from a smaller group of seniors about writing and writers.

In his comments, Kazin frequently returned to the point that "genuine personal authenticity" was the quality that he most valued in writing. He cited the poetry of Robert Lowell as possessing this characteristic, while on the other extreme, the work of such beatnik poets as Ginsburg and Ferlinghetti seemed self-conscious and exhibitionistic.

Mr. Kazin has taught American Studies at Amherst, Smith, and the State University of New York. He is the editor of works by Melville, Dreiser, F. Scott Fitzgerald, and Anne Frank. Among his own works are On Native Ground, A Walker in the City, Contemporaries, and Starting Out in the Thirties.

ANDOVER CO-OP

Putting on a Final Sprint

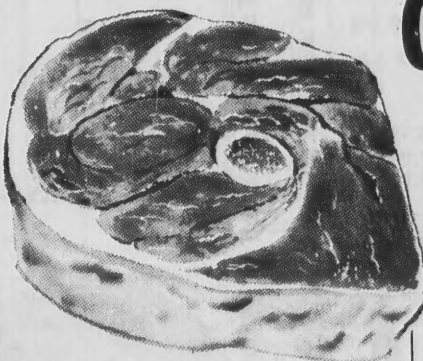

The year 1965 is almost over. Remaining are only four more weekends. Just as a distance runner, striving to win an important race, puts on a burst of speed as he approaches the finish line, so will many hundreds of good CO-OP shoppers step up their accumulation of 1965 sales slips as they approach the end of the year.

To accumulate these sales slips is almost like putting money in the bank. Year in and year out, CO-OP shoppers have learned that these slips mean substantial refunds in U.S. currency - usually enough to pay for two weeks' groceries!

This is because, in a consumers' cooperative, the net surplus earned during each year has nowhere to go but back to its patrons. Which means that besides saving on the CO-OP's low, low prices, you save again when you redeem your sales slips for substantial amounts of CASH.

The Andover CO-OP has had a good year so far. December can make it our best.

Judy Rutter, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rutter, 54 Morton St., was among Massachusetts prize winners honored at a Chicopee banquet Saturday evening by the Massachusetts Horsemen's Council.

At the Banquet of Champions, Miss Rutter took honors as the state junior saddle seat equitation champion, a title she earned by accumulating points in horse shows affiliated with the Massachusetts council.

In this, her first year of showing, the young rider never placed lower than fourth in junior saddle seat equitation classes, open to youngsters 14 and under.

Trained by Mr. and Mrs. Neil Patnaude of Red Oak Farm, North Andover, Judy won the junior class event at the Blanford Horse Show and also a qualifying class to ride at Madison Square Garden, New York City.

In competition with riders up to 18 years of age at the Eastern States Exposition, Springfield, she placed third in one class and sixth in another.

Her horse, Jipsey C. is the champion three-gaited saddle pony in the Massachusetts Horsemen's Council and the North Shore Horsemen's Assn.

He has been in the reserves almost 20 years, joining a control unit in Lawrence in 1946 following discharge from active duty. He joined the 331st General Hospital in 1949 as a master sergeant and was a warrant officer from 1951 to 1954 when he was commissioned as a first lieutenant.

From 1943 to 1946, Major LaFrenier served with the 89th Mortar Battalion in the Central Europe and Rhineland campaigns. During World War II, he received two battle stars, the Good Conduct Medal, the American Campaign Medal, and the World War II Victory Medal. He has also received the Army Reserve Medal.

A native of Methuen, he attended Methuen Public Schools, Macintosh College, Lawrence, New England College, Henniker, N. H., and graduated from Merrimack College in 1952 with a B.S. degree in business administration. In 1943 he took an army administration course at Mississippi Southern College.

Major LaFrenier is employed as a sales representative with Deming Plate Glass Co., Haverhill.

New tests show
extension
phone saves 76 extra miles of walking
every year.

A pedometer test proved it! 358 housewives agreed to wear pedometers for a month before they had an extension phone, and then for a month after. Some lived in large houses, some in small. Some had large families, some small. Result of the test: they saved 76 miles a year on the average!

An extension phone can take some of the "run" out of running your home, too. Especially if you put it in a busy, important spot like the kitchen, bedroom, den, or family room. Cost? Just a fraction more for double the convenience.

To order a mile-saving extension phone, call your Telephone Business Office or talk to your telephone man.

Supply & Demand

Some people are still chortling over the way the Administration recently wielded a subtle Federal bludgeon to force major producers of aluminum and copper to roll back programmed price increases.

Still others view with alarm what has been widely proclaimed as a major development of the Kennedy-Johnson era — government intervention to control the economy.

If the experts are right, few Americans are qualified to make an intelligent judgment about which point of view is most valid. Few have the foggiest notion about what the "law of supply and demand is" much less any clear idea of what happens to a free economy when you start tampering with it.

Economists, in fact, consider that ours is a nation of economic illiterates. They have long insisted, and surveys have supported their contention, that few of us understand the economics behind wars, strikes, booms and busts.

Some months ago the Townsman commented editorially on the recorded misconceptions of high school students in the Greater Lawrence area about the relationships between production, wages and prices, etc. For longer than that this editor has championed the cause of business news written to stimulate the interest of people who are many times removed from the executive suite and plumped for the creative introduction of basic economics into the elementary school curriculum.

The idea of watering down economic theory for youthful consumption is not new. Experiments in the field are well advanced and at least two Commonwealth school systems are deep into programs of elementary economic education.

In Lincoln first and second graders are learning, for example, that the team of pupils that produces gingerbread men assembly-line fashion accomplishes more faster (and uses fewer "costly" tools in the process) than the group which puts a child to making one cookie, start to finish.

"Children might not be ready to grapple with the great issues of our time," says William D. Radar, a University of Chicago professor who has developed economic study materials for fourth and fifth graders. "But economics is cumulative — it takes time to absorb. . . Right now most of those who set out for college think of it as a deathly hard subject they must try hard to avoid."

The situation is improving, however. In 1951, according to a Brookings Institute survey, only five percent of the nation's high school students were exposed to a formal course in economics before graduation. The percentage is now up to 20.

It is now late for Andover to be first with development of a pace-setting economic education for its public school students, but there is still room for pioneers. We think immediate attention should be given to catching up and the impetus for creative work in the field provided.

Nothing unified is being done at the elementary level here, that much is certain. The subject is dealt with in the secondary school social studies program, two-thirds of which has just been revised. Before the balance of that program is buttoned up and the 1966 budget set, the Townsman would like to see the School Committee interest itself in seeing that Andover has a curriculum that makes the most of the latest thinking on how economics can be taught from kindergarten through grade twelve.

The very survival of our economic system may depend upon how well and how quickly U. S. educators meet this challenge.

How Unfortunate

How unfortunate, at times, that we cannot revert to the period in Commonwealth history when Paul Revere and a light in the Old North Church were the speediest media available for the distribution of the news.

It would spare us the embarrassment of admitting to the rest of the nation that we have elected a full set of legislators incapable of dealing with the fiscal problems of this state and its municipalities.

It is difficult to be charitable, but we must express some sympathy for the General Court. If the officials of most other communities have been as namby pamby as Andover's about volunteering grassroots guidance on the revenue issue, small wonder that the legislators hesitate to stick their heads in a noose — any noose.

There are times when the people's elected representatives must take a position for or against something. It is not enough to bleat to the men on Capitol Hill, "You MUST Act," which is in essence all that both the Board of Selectmen and the School Committee of Andover have had to say since this ridiculous tax hassle began.

Peace & Goodwill

It wasn't all Peace on Earth and Goodwill when the School Committee sat down with the Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee Tuesday to hear Manager Richard Bowen tick off the town's 1966 revenue problems.

But they were there under one roof — all the officials that are to have a hand in determining the tax rate for the coming year.

Such fiscal fraternization would seem an economic necessity in any community, but certainly in one suffering as Andover is from growing pains.

Who knows. If pre-budget talks become traditional, they could foster inter-departmental understanding and co-operation.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago — December, 1890

On Tuesday evening occurred the marriage of John E. Smith the well known superintendent of the waterworks and Mary H., daughter of Oberlin B. Howarth. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Seth Tracy Tacher of Beverly at the house recently occupied by C. B. Jenkins on Punchard Ave., which will be their place of residence.

The blacksmiths, yesterday morning, assumed that pleasant smile which the first ice covered roads of winter are wont to bring to their faces. They were kept rushing all day sharpening up the horses' shoes.

The B&M RR has issued 100 ride ticket from Andover to Boston for $34.50.

The school committee is trying to break up the cigarette smoking habit among the older boys.

E. H. Shattuck has bought a handsome shotgun of a new pattern, and has issued a standing challenge, open to all comers, to shoot clay pigeons with him.

The "schoolmarm" in North Andover have been very diligent during the past year and have gained a week upon the man of the hourglass and sickle, which will give them two weeks recess at Christmas time instead of one as heretofore.

50 Years Ago — December, 1915

A silent policeman has been placed on duty in the square at the junction of Main and Essex Sts. for the guidance of motor and horse-drawn vehicles.

James Goodwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Goodwin of Park street, underwent a successful operation for appendicitis in the Lawrence General Hospital.

By mistaking the private way between Valpey's market and the Musgrove building for a thoroughfare to Haverhill, the driver of a regal automobile came to grief last evening for he landed in a deep hole in the rear of Elm Block and against the fence in L. F. Hitchcock's back yard. The help of several citizens was offered and after an hour's effort the auto was again on the right road to Haverhill. The driver appeared to be intoxicated.

John McCarthy, the well-known stone-mason, who has been ill for many weeks died at his home on Wolcott Ave.

Prof. John Winthrop Platner, formerly of this town and now of Cambridge, has commended the Imperialism both of the United States and Great Britain. "Whatever we may think of the way in which we took the Philippines or of keeping the islands, there is no doubt but that if the United States were to withdraw now, there would be a general reversion to internal discord and the possibility of predatory attack by other nations." Prof. Platner said he had seen nothing finer than the systematic and scientific benevolence with which this country is treating the inhabitants of the Philippines.

25 Years Ago — December, 1940

Andover is going to lose the services of Charlie Emerson, first permanent chief of the Andover fire department. This week Charlie listened attentively to his doctor, and then decided to submit his request for retirement to the selectmen as of January 4.

Upped to the title of supervisor of physical education by the School Committee is Donald Dunn, a position which he has more or less held without officially being so named.

Something else new is scheduled to arrive in town soon besides 1941 and both are coming the same month. A new kind of shop selling all old articles will make bargain day last all year . . . the Andover Thrift Shop . . . to be sponsored by the women of Christ Church. On the general committee are Mrs. Guy B. Howe, chairman, Mrs. Dean W. Walen, Mrs. Julius Rockwell, Mrs. John Stewart, Mrs. C. Carlton Kimball and Mrs. Douglas B. Byers.

10 Years Ago — December, 1955

The A. J. Tambone Co. of Reading has purchased 646 acres of land, which includes the Butler Ames estate, and plans to build 1,800 homes on the acreage. A. J. Tambone, president of the firm, said 100 acres are situated in Andover while the remainder is in Tewksbury.

Robert L. Banister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Banister of York St. was a member of the crew aboard the USS Searcher the radar ship which on Nov. 13 caught on fire off the coast of New Jersey. The tragedy took the lives of four crew members and critically injured another. Seaman Banister was one of the more fortunate ones and other than being firefighting from the 48 hours of firefighting and cleaning up debris, he suffered no ill effects.

The Bolton family has purchased approximately 500 acres of land in West Andover, including three farms, for various members of the family to build their own homes on.

The board of public works will insert an article in the town warrant on water fluoridation.

Fire insurance rates apparently are under careful study, following a recent test of water pressure in the upper Elm street section by representatives of the fire underwriters.

Tufted Titmouse Has Chickadee's Habits

A fidgety, little gray bird may be testing a Darwinian theory in Massachusetts.

By doing nothing more dramatic than making a living in the Commonwealth, the tufted titmouse may give some hints on whether two species of seemingly identical habits can occupy the same territory. The titmouse and its close relative, the familiar black-capped chickadee, seem to seek the same food in the same way.

A theory of Darwinian evolution assumes that when two species have identical habits and food, one species will be more successful and displace the other.

Until about 1956 the tufted titmouse, a southern bird, was unknown in Massachusetts. A few rare vagrants living in Connecticut occasionally crossed the state line on a feeding foray, but such furtive intrusions were not regarded as anything substantial. Then, the bird began invading Massachusetts in numbers.

Last February in the third annual cardinal-tufted titmouse census, birders recorded 741 titmice in Massachusetts. There were 250 titmice in Hampden County; 153 in Middlesex County, and 135 in Norfolk County, with other counties having fewer than 100.

Dr. William H. Drury, Jr., research director of the Massachusetts Audubon Society, has begun a project to learn what the invasion by titmice means to the chickadee population.

The project involves color-banding the birds to learn where

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman: A hearing was held before the Board of Selectmen in the Town Hall on the evening of November 23rd, at which time a petition of a development corporation to fill a portion of its land for use as building lots, the petition was opposed by the Conservation Commission. It appeared that the land was situated at or near the flood plain of Fish Brook.

From the standpoint of the citizens of Andover, I believe the question boils down to this: do we want part of the money we are spending on our Fish Brook project to be spent to no avail? What will happen if development is permitted to fill in swamps, lands feeding swamps, and border on Fish Brook, because these retain the water that we plan to reclaim.

The time to stop such filling arguments which try to persuade us that it is all right to fill, so obviously against public interest that the only sensible answer is a petition seems to be a detailed final NO! Citizens of Andover, pick up your phones and let our fellow men know how you feel about whittling away of the value of a million dollar Fish Brook project, and Andover's future water supply.

Harold R. Baker
9 Alder

To the Editor of the Townsman: I just had to write you and press something that has been on my mind for many years. It is a wonderful job our Park Dept. do in keeping our outdoor areas in such wonderful shape. I have great pride in the B.P.W. and in the condition and look of the playstead was brought to the attention of the several thousand who attended the Thanksgiving morning game. All who had part of handling the largest ever deserves a vote of our police dept. men in particular. I can only say "a tip o' the hat" to Stanley Chlebowicki and his department crew, James Thompson, Foreman, John Lynch, Leahy, and Theodore Smith. Their really excellent work year out.

Busy Bugs Move Indoors

Now that the temperatures are falling, insects are moving indoors for the winter. Reports received by the County Extension Office have several pests on the move. Clover mites, reddish brown creatures smaller than a pinhead, are extremely active. They do not bite people, transmit diseases, or feed on household furnishings or pantry supplies, but are a nuisance.

If they are crushed, they leave blood-red spots that are especially noticeable on linens, curtains, walls and woodwork.

Infestations of these mites in side buildings can be reduced or prevented by thoroughly spraying the lower exterior walls, foundations and 10-20 feet of adjacent lawn with Malathion or DDT. Read the label on the insecticide you buy and heed all precautions.

Watch out for carpet beetles in the home. The tiny, fuzzy carpet pillars which are at the "clothing eating" life stage of this pest are very numerous this time of year. During your fall house cleaning be sure to vacuum up all lint from around baseboards, behind radiators, closet corners, and floor cracks, since a small infestation starting in these out-of-the-way spots often missed during a regular house cleaning, can spread and cause serious fabric damage this winter. Remember most of the damage attributed to clothes moths in this area is actually caused by carpet beetles.

Ancient Dutch tradition claimed that St. Nicholas would leave no gifts on Christmas Eve unless he saw the children's wooden shoes set in a row by the fireplace. Thus, he knew if children were all asleep.

Lawrence-Born B Will Appear In L

Lawrence-born baritone, Rene Miville, will be the featured artist at the closing program of the Moses Greely Parker Series for the 1965 season, to be held Dec. 12 at 3 p.m. at Lowell Memorial Auditorium.

Miville is with the Milan Opera Co. and is an Italian movie star. His concert, like all programs in the Parker Series, will be free to the public. During Miville, whose voice the Saturday Review considers "of Metropolitan quality", began his musical career as an instrumentalist, appearing with American symphony orchestras as an oboist. His vocal talents overshadowed his other musical attributes, he studied in Europe and this country. He holds degrees in music from Boston University and Baylor University, but his most intensive study has been made in Milan. In Europe he has appeared professionally in Rome, Como and Lugano opera houses. He was a featured artist at the famous Spoleto Festival of Giancarlo Menotti and in this country he has appeared in Boston and at New York's Carnegie Hall. Most recently his talents have been utilized in several popular Italian movies. He toured during the summer with "Camelot", playing the lead role of Lancelot.

Two Women Join March

Two Andover women were with the thousands of demonstrators who marched in Washington, D.C., last weekend to protest the United States' Vietnam policy.

Mrs. Thomas Rees, 157 Main St., and Mrs. Herschel Sternlieb, 18 Strawberry Hill Rd., joined an estimated 4,000-6,000 New Englanders in the march on the nation's capital.

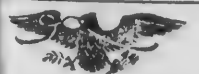

Lecturer on Asian history at Bradford Junior College, Mrs. Rees told the Townsman that she felt it was most important that she participate in the march since she feels our present handling of the crisis in Vietnam is both unwise and dangerous. An immediate cease-fire, a recourse to international law and a United Nations settlement are three steps she advocates.

Mrs. Rees reported that the marchers represented a real cross-section of Americans including many teachers, doctors, clergymen, students, businessmen and veterans. The most moving address was made, in her opinion, by Mrs. Martin Luther King who participated in a program moderated by Dr. Benjamin Spock. Other talks were given by Norman Thomas, patriarch of American Socialism, Cong. George Brown Jr. (D-Cal.), and Carl Oglesby, head of the Student Democratic Society.

Male Choir Busy

The Andover Male Choir has concerts scheduled for Dec. 16 and Jan. 5 in Beverly and at John Hancock Hall, Boston, for Jan. 15. Early next year the choir will start rehearsals with the Andover Choral Society in preparation for presentation of Mozart's "Requiem" and Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" scheduled for spring. Additional singers may join the group at its weekly rehearsals, held on Tuesdays at 8:15 p.m. at the Andover Junior High.

Four Women Are Honored

Honored at a Nov. 30 museum party for their contribution to the recent membership drive of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts were Mrs. John Hawes, Mrs. S. Leonard Kent III, Mrs. Harry Axelrod, and Mrs. Munro Leaf of Andover. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Saltonstall of North Andover and Mrs. James Adriance of Andover, the committee worked to add local residents to the museum's membership, now boosted to 12,000. Memberships are still being accepted by the local committee.

The Tapestry Gallery of the Museum was the setting for the party which was followed by a tour of the museum's newly-renovated Egyptian galleries and the Greek gold exhibit which is on special display until Jan. 1.

Board Vetoes Fill Petition

Taking fast action, the Board of Selectmen voted unanimously Tuesday to refuse the petition of the Acreage Development Committee of Peabody which sought permission to fill land in the Fish Brook area for development as housing.

Complying with a new state law designed to protect water supply and flood plain areas, the board held a hearing Nov. 23.

The application of Jean Clark, four, general manager of Acreage Development, was opposed by Robert R. Retelle, until recently president of the Andover Village Improvement Society.

Also speaking against the proposal to fill in an area that would disrupt the flow of water into the town's planned Fish Brook reservoir were representatives of the municipal Conservation Commission.

Acting as spokesman for the commission, Chairman Herbert Rohrbach read a resolution stating that now is the time to set a precedent that will keep development from filling flood plain areas.

Worker-Job Ratio Good

New England's growing employment rate has been outstanding in the region's available labor force according to Federal Reserve Bank of Boston current analysis of third quarter economic activity in the six states.

The region's seasonally adjusted September unemployment rate, at 4.2 percent, was significantly below the 4.4 percent national average, the Bank pointed out in its monthly "Business Review", while the number of New Englanders drawing unemployment compensation during the September period, off 23 percent from a year ago, was the lowest since 1956.

Led by a 14 percent rise in September employment in transportation equipment industry, most all manufacturers were reporting their work forces at high levels, the bank reported, adding the shortage of skilled workers, the fine jewelry, silverware, and furniture trades limited increase employment in those industries.

Pike Children Adopt Soldier

Pike School boys and girls have adopted as their own a local soldier who is in the thick of things in Vietnam.

He is Kevin Lynch, son of Mrs. John Lynch, the school's cafeteria manager. Young Lynch landed two months ago with the 101st Airborne Division and has seen considerable action.

Headmaster William Harding reports that a number of Pike children have undertaken to write him notes hoping to make some difference in the feelings expressed in the note recently received by his mother:

"I hope everyone is fine at home. I guess I'm O.K., but feeling pretty lonely. I had a good dream last night. I dreamed I just got home for good, what a day that will be."

"I sure wish I could see the corned leaves on the ground and the air would smell so nice. I guess I'll get to see them next year. Not much to say, nothing happens to write about. Write soon Kevin."

Fifth Graders Count Blessings

To remind pupils at Shawsheen School of their daily blessings as Americans, fifth graders recently presented a program entitled "Every Day is Thanksgiving Day" under supervision of their teacher, Mrs. Margaret Fingleton. Appropriate poems, group recitations, and music led by Mrs. Miriam McArdle, director of music for Andover schools, were included.

Participating in the Thanksgiving program, announced by Robert Hughes, were Bobby Boner, John Borrelli, Carol Dennett, Jeffrey Dimmock, Jay Duffy, Joyce Eldred, Ward Farrington, Karen Fearing, Janet Fraser, Michael Gosselin, Jeannie Guild, Virginia Hall, Patty Holt, Lisa Hooson, Achille Leger, John Marshall, Kevin McCarthy, Wendy MacDonald, Mark Nelson, Sharon Ried, Suzanne Seccareccio, David Shaw, Nancy Simpson, and Barbara Towne.

MRS. ROBERT T. GEARIN

Gearin - Cordts

Josephine Cordts and Robert T. Gearin were married last month in a ceremony at St. Augustine's Church by Rev. James A. Wenzel, OSA.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. H. Edward Cordts, 18 Wildwood Rd. and the late H. E. Cordts, and the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas A. Gearin of Methuen.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Daniel P. Dumas. Her gown was white peau de soie styled with a bell-shaped skirt, a cathedral train and appliques of Swedish lace. She wore a pearl tiara with veil of silk illusion and carried an old fashioned bouquet of white roses and stephanotis encircled by Swedish lace.

As her sister's only attendant, Miss Nancy E. Cordts wore gold peau de soie styled with Empire lines. Her flowers were in a Colonial bouquet of bronze and yellow poms.

The bride's mother was dressed in a gold brocade jacket dress and Mrs. Gearin wore an aqua brocade sheath. Both women wore accessories to match their costumes and cymbidium orchid corsage.

Best man for the ceremony was Leon A. Gearin, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Theodore P. Hebert of Methuen and James J. Prue of Lowell.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Maine following a reception at Merrimack Valley Motor Hotel in North Andover.

The bride, a graduate of Pynchard High School, is employed by the Andover Company. Mr. Gearin attended Methuen schools. He is employed by Louis Shoe Corp. at Cherry Webb's Lawrence store.

Obituaries...

JOHN F. MATTHEWS, former general manager of J. P. Stevens' Northern woolen and worsted manufacturing division, died unexpectedly at his home in Mayfield, England, Nov. 21. He had been ill since September.

Cremation and burial took place in the bridge Wells, Kent, England on Nov. 26.

Mr. Matthews, 52, and his wife Kathleen were Andover residents from the early 1950's until last June when the couple returned to the textile expert's homeland to their home at Hunters, Lake Mayfield, Sussex, England. The industrialist is survived by Mrs. Matthews; two daughters, Valerie and Wendy; and one son, Andrew.

A native of Manchester, England, Mr. Matthews was a graduate of the University of London. He was already a specialist in the problems of the British textile industry when he came to this country to study at MIT on a textile fellowship. Returning to England to head up L. A. M. Mitchell's textile division, Mr. Matthews came to the U. S. in 1950 as assistant manager and later manager of J. P. Stevens' engineering department. Before his association with Stevens' Northern mills, he was assigned to the Forstmann division in Passaic, N. J.

Since his return to England, last summer, the woolen and worsted expert has been associated with the International Wool Secretariat which represents the woolgrowers of the world. As a consultant, Mr. Matthews helped with solutions to textile problems in Israel, Turkey and Japan.

A naturalized American citizen, Mr. Matthews was a member of a number of textile engineering associations. He was a member also of St. Matthew's Lodge, AF&AM, Andover and while a resident here he attended St. Paul's Episcopal Church, North Andover.

GEORGE A. ROWE, George A. Rowe, 86, formerly a resident at 155 Chestnut St., died Nov. 28 after a long illness. Mr. Rowe was born in Bristol, Conn., but lived in Andover for an extended period. He was retired as supervisor of Phillips Academy's bird sanctuary.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Irene Wilson of Glens Falls, N. Y., and Mrs. Grace Brackley of Meriden, Conn.

The funeral was held Tuesday from Lundgren Funeral Home. Cremation took place in Harmony Grove, Salem.

JAMES DOWNING, James Downing, 269 Highland Rd., died Nov. 29 shortly after being admitted to Lawrence General Hospital. Death was attributed to coronary heart disease. Mr. Downing, who formerly operated an apple orchard, was a native and lifelong resident of Andover. He attended South Congregational Church.

He is survived by two sisters, Miss Horace Downing and Mrs. Joanne Downing Foster, both of Andover; and several nieces and nephews.

Private services will be held today at the home with Rev. Frederick B. Noss of South Church officiating. Cremation will be at Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

The funeral was held Tuesday from Lundgren Funeral Home. Cremation took place in Harmony Grove, Salem.

JAMES DOWNING, James Downing, 269 Highland Rd., died Nov. 29 shortly after being admitted to Lawrence General Hospital. Death was attributed to coronary heart disease.

Mr. Downing, who formerly operated an apple orchard, was a native and lifelong resident of Andover. He attended South Congregational Church.

He is survived by two sisters, Miss Morrice Downing and Mrs. Joanne Downing Foster, both of Andover; and several nieces and nephews.

Private services will be held today at the home with Rev. Frederick B. Noss of South Church officiating. Cremation will be at Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

HECTOR G. PATTULLO

Hector G. Pattullo, 198 N. Main St., a former Marland Mills machinist, died Nov. 30 at Lawrence General Hospital after a long illness. He was 65.

Born in Arbroath, Scotland, Mr. Pattullo had lived in Andover since 1924. He was a member of Christ Episcopal Church, Clan Johnston, OSC and St. Matthew's Lodge, AF&M.

Surviving are his wife, Catherine (Stewart) Pattullo; two daughters, Mrs. Catherine S. Erler of Andover and Mrs. Frances P. Salois of Lawrence; a son, Sgt. Hector G. Pattullo Jr., of the Andover police department; two sisters, Mrs. Jessie Smith of Arbroath, Scotland and Mrs. Rita Smart of Niagara Falls, Canada; seven grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

The funeral will be held this morning at Lundgren Funeral Home with services in Christ Episcopal Church at 11 a.m. Burial will be in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Coming Events December

- 2 Blue yarns group, Ballardvale branch, 10-10:45 a.m.
Film program, Community room, Ballardvale, 4 p.m.
- 4 Story hour, Children's room, main library, 10 a.m.
- 7 Coons, Children's room, 10-10:45 a.m.
- 9 Red yarns group, Ballardvale branch, 10-10:45 a.m.

Film Program

Miss Elizabeth Russell announces the films to be shown at the community room in Ballardvale on Dec. 2 at 4 o'clock: "Arctic wildlife range" emphasizes the importance of conserving wilderness areas, plant and animal life; "Rabbit That Runs on Snowshoes" is the story of the snowshoe hare and its adaptation to its environment.

Both films are from the loan collection at the library which belongs to a state-wide film cooperative. If your group is interested in material for programs, ask for the film catalog at the desk.

Other titles available in December are "I've been there in a book," "Old Sturbridge," "Village of Switzerland," "In the beginning," (Grand Canyon).

Great Books

Under the leadership of Robert Rockwell and Miss Helen Stearns, the study group of 22 members is reading and discussing the third year program in the series sponsored by the library in a decade-long cycle.

Those who belong to the group this year are Mrs. Carl Borchert, Dr. and Mrs. Mathew Cushing Jr., Mrs. Dannolfe, Mrs. David Darling, Mrs. Bruce Dodd, Mrs. Thomas Fretwell, Mrs. Edward Gordon, Daniel Kocher, Mrs. Arthur Kramer, Mrs. James McGovern, Mrs. Albert Ogden, Mrs. John Perlowski, William S. Port, Miss Miriam Putnam, Mrs. Herman Rochwarg, Robert Rockwell, Mrs. Lawrence Spiegel, Miss Helen Stearns, Mrs. Harvey Steen, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Zussman.

Saturday Story

Within the fairy ring is a land of enchantment for the school boy and girl. Miss Elizabeth Russell will open the ring and tell them in this Saturday story the story of the Bird in the Linden Tree from Howard Pyle's PEPPER AND SALT. Storytime the library has become a special for school age children who are waiting outside. Children's room for the door be unlocked at 10 a.m.

What's A Seven Day Book?

Year-round it is a book people are waiting to read although the library has bought several copies on the very generous ratio of book for every five people have expressed an interest in reading it.

But right now the special day books have to do with Christmas. There are books of customs around the world, appropriate decorations for the season and how to make them, things have for the traditional Christmas dinner and books that make the significance of the festival readers of all ages. So the display of Christmas books in the library collection have joined the seven day books. The main reading room is featuring a display of this week. Come look them over for family reading or new ideas.

The Children's room and Ballardvale branch are also featuring Christmas books. How the birth of Christ is observed by children in other parts of the world, the Christmas trees of other lands are decorated, stories and songs of the birth of the Christ and Christmas legends from the times and lands, are all part of the special display. Christmas books in the children's room can be borrowed for seven days.

• Thomas Moreau, 18, 345 S. Main St., received nose and rib injuries Thanksgiving Day when his car skidded on Greenwood Rd., jumping a cellar hole and striking both a stone wall and a utility pole.

• Joseph Serio of Lowell Junction Rd. and the Lawrence Veterans Council have written letters to the School Committee complimenting the Andover public school system for having a man of the caliber of Football Coach Richard Collins on its professional staff. The letters referred to Collins' recent benching of first string players involved in vandalism at the Methuen stadium.

• School Bus Driver Raymond A. Brouillard has been released from his contract effective Dec. 23. Brouillard requested that the School Committee release him for personal reasons. Temporary coverage will be arranged until a new three-year contract can be advertised.

Local Nurse Dead At 44

Miss Nancy Harrison, R.N., 44 years old, 92 Abbot St., died Nov. 30 at the New England Deaconess Hospital, Boston, after a long illness.

Born in Lawrence, Oct. 1921 she was also a former resident of Boston. She graduated from Abbot Academy in 1940, Mt. Ida College, Newton, in 1942 and Boston Children's Medical Center in 1946.

Miss Harrison was a member of Grace Episcopal Church of Lawrence, the Eureka Club, and in addition had served as a statepage from the Samuel Adams Chapter DAR of Methuen.

Surviving are her father Clifton

Harrison of Andover, a sister, Shirley Anne, wife of Walter C. Emmett of Amarillo, Tex., two nephews and one niece.

The funeral will be held Friday at 2 p.m. from Grace Episcopal Church in Lawrence. Rev. Charles Shields and Rev. Herman Nelson will officiate. Burial will be in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Visiting hours will be from 2-4 and 7-9 tonight at the Charles F. Dewhurst Home, 80 Broadway, Methuen.

Public hearings on the impact of government procurement on small business will be held in Boston today and tomorrow beginning at 10 a.m. in the Federal Building, Courtroom 5, 12th floor. The purpose of the hearings, reported by Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) will be to review the current status of government procurement in Massachusetts and New England with respect to its effect upon small business.

Filed for consideration by the legislature next year, a bill by Sen. Beryl W. Cohen (D-Brookline) which would increase the minimum salary for public school teachers from $5,000 to $5,500. A bachelor's minimum of $5,400 has been tentatively established for Andover teachers in 1966.
